MARBLE...

The symbol of wealth and prosperity, which took millions of years to form and which has been one of the indispensable building blocks of mankind for centuries due to its elegance, beauty and durability...

Mesopotamia, Egypt, Persian, Greek, Roman, Seljuk and Ottoman and many other civilizations have used marble in their monuments, sculptures and structures that have survived to the present day and shed light on their ages.

Egyptian temples, Greek acropolises, Roman amphitheatres, medieval castles, Gothic style cathedrals, Renaissance artifacts, palaces, baths, mosques and fountains of the Seljuk and Ottoman periods, train stations, airports, administration buildings in the modern era, shopping malls and residences are now unthinkable without marble.

Marble has become the most noble building material of architecture for centuries due to its easy processing, aesthetic appearance, resistance to harsh weather conditions, high load-bearing power, abundant presence in nature and antibacterial properties.

Turkey is located in a region that has had the richest marble resources in The World since the Roman, Mediterranean and Anatolian civilizations and today is a country having strategic importance which incorporates approx. 35 to 40% of total global marble reserve.

MERMER...

Oluşumu milyonlarca yıl süren, asırlardan beri insanoğlunun zerafeti, güzelliği ve dayanıklılığı nedeniyle vazgeçilmez yapi taslarindan biri olan zenginliğin ve refahın simgesi...

Mezopotamya, Mısır, Pers, Yunan, Roma, Selcuklu ve Osmanli ve diğer bir çok medeniyet günümüze kadar gelen ve çağlarına ışık tutan anıtlarinda, heykellerinde ve yapılarında kullanmişlardir mermeri.

Mısır tapınakları, Yunan akropolleri, Roma devrine ait amfı-tiyatrolar, orta çağın şatoları, Gotik tarzı katedraller, Rönesans'a ait eserler, Selçuklu ve Osmanlı devrinin saray, hamam, cami ve çeşmelerinden sonra modern çağda da tren istasyonları, havaalanları, yönetim binaları, alışveriş merkezleri ve konutlar artık mermersiz düşünülemez olmuştur.

Kolay işlenebilmesi, estetik görünüşü, sert hava koşullarına dayanıklı olması, taşıyıcı gücünün fazlalığı, doğada bol miktarda bulunması ve antibakteriyel özelliği nedeniyle mermer, yüzyıllar boyunca mimarinin en soylu yapı malzemesi haline gelmiştir.

Turkiye, Roma, Akdeniz ve Anadolu medeniyetlerinden beri süregelen zaman zarfında Dunyanin en zengin mermer kaynaklarina sahip olmuş bir bölgede konumlanmis ve bugun itibariyle dünya toplam mermer rezervinin %35-40 ini barindiran madencilikte stratejik bir oneme sahip ülkesi durumundadır.
